“This time travel enough to meet yourself instead of places!”

1. Let’s cheer for the 3R’s- Rejuvenation, Relaxation and Rebinding

2. Reading- thoroughly read books available at home. Seek help from your parents in case you aren’t able to read a few words. Make a list of books read by you in your English and Hindi notebook respectively.

3. Unravel the Artiste in you- pursue your hobbies, learn a recipe without fire, write a story, draw, dance, sing, play an instrument do whatever makes you happy.

4. Exercise- do simple exercises or yoga at home which keeps you fit and energized.

5. Extend a helping hand- help your parents by extending help and assisting them in filling water bottles, keeping your room and closet clean, watering plants.

6. Appreciate and show gratitude – learn to appreciate and be thankful for everything in your life.

7. Revise - go through what your teachers have taught you more than twice and practice it well.

8. Family Time- make sure you spend quality time together. Play games like – carrom, chess, ludo, scrabble, this time you read bedtime stories to your grandparents and parents, eat meals together, watch movies, enjoy music together. Parents try making the vacation time a memorable for your children by providing an environment which is full of fun, excitement, gratitude and learning. Appreciate your children when they do something right, guide them when they do something incorrect and above all love them for who they are We have tried to keep "Summer Holidays Homework" simple and engaging so that you can spend your time creatively by doing these interesting things.
